CITY BUILDING DEDICATION SATURDAY

Albany's New Civic Center

My Word!
Dorothy Limer

WELL, THIS IS IT—The week we've been waiting for. Everything is in readiness for the dedication of our new city buildings Saturday. Despite all the excitement over moving to the new place, there's going to be some sadness about taking the flag down at the old buildings for the last time. Lots of memories, bitter and sweet, for lots of people connected with that dreadful building.

DESPITE OUR sincere efforts to give credit for everything done by everyone, there are bound to be some people or organizations overlooked. For example, we named just last week that Albany Lions club is donating the trophy case at new city hall. Also, Bob Rhea has dinner-dance tickets at Albany Bowl. We've taken care of envelopes, cash register and on sheafs of paper. They've been made at meetings, on the street, at home and the office. Some are on the backs of others and organizing them has been hectic. If YOU'VE been left out, you may be on the back of a piece of paper somewhere.

LAST WEEK Ursula Gruban, masseuse, offered massages to the three busiest people on the dedication committee. After Times came out she called back to say she is going to give massages to all sub-committee chairmen plus the publisher and the editor of this newspaper. She hopes all will come in before the dedication so they'll feel chipper that day. The line forms to the right.

WE RAN AN ITEM last week asking for someone to operate a 16 mm camera. Nothing but requests. Earl Malinen, a good friend of some of the fire ladders, will be taking 16 mm color movies with the camera we mentioned. Walter Porep who lives in Albany and owns Sports-News Productions called to say he was sorry he'd be in Southern California filming a big football game, but said he has made arrangements for Will Sboey, TVU cameraman, to provide black and white movie coverage. Be sure to smile... there were times it might be used on Channel 2.

MAID OF ALBANY VALERIE BANETT will be in the parade Saturday, introduced from the platform and serve as official representative of a new generation. (Continued on Page 3)

Next Council Meeting in New Building

Albany City Council met for the last time in the old council chambers Monday night but nary a tear was shed for auld lang syne.

In fact, they were so anxious to move to new quarters that Mayor Lewis Howell said the meeting would be there "even if we have to use folding chairs." (Theatre type seats for the audience are expected to arrive by this weekend.)

Councilmen approved on first reading an ordinance increasing the salaries of the police chief to $1,028 and the city attorney to $565, effective upon qualification after the April election. By law, their salaries cannot be raised during their terms of office.

On the motion of Councilman Richard Clark, council voted to (Continued on Page 7)

Dinner Tickets Going Great -- Sale Continues

Mrs. Barry Rummion and Greg McArthur, ticket co-chairmen for the dinner-dance at Golden Gate Fields following the dedication Saturday, have held a conference with Roland Giovanni, who is preparing the roast beef and ham buffet dinner, and have announced their decision to continue the sale of $2 tickets through Saturday night.

"This is not because the sale is not going well," Mrs. Rummion said. "Quite the contrary is true. As of Jan. 5, 500 tickets had been sold and, as you know, Albany is a last-minute ticket-buying town. We feel that by the meeting tonight, we'll have the bulk of tickets sold, but we don't want to cut out anyone who wishes to attend."

According to reports, you can't find anyone who isn't selling the tickets. However, if you have not been approached and wish to attend, the committee would appreciate your purchasing tickets in advance. They are available at Albany Times, Mel-O-Dee club, the police and fire departments, all offices in city hall, Security Savings and Loan, Dagna's, Albany Bowl, Albany Chamber of Commerce and the Senior Citizens' Center.

For additional information or tickets, contact Mrs. Rummion (LA 6-8060) or Mrs. Robert Luoma (LA 6-1311).

PLANT POPPIES
Albany Hill reportedly was "swarming with civic-minded children" last Saturday when Mrs. Eldon Parr of Hill and Dale Women's club organized a poppy-planting project for Scouts, Camp Fire Girls and other "unorganized" children. The Times took a picture. Watch for it next week.

A DREAM COME TRUE — Here they are—Albany's long-awaited new city buildings, which will be formally dedicated in public ceremonies this Saturday, Jan. 15. A symbolic parade from old to new buildings will begin at 2 p.m. after the formality of striking the flag at old city hall for the last time. The caravan and marchers will arrive at the new site about 2:30, raise the colors on the new flag poles and begin the ceremonies. After ribbon-cutting and plaque-unveiling, the public will tour the new facilities. —Times Photo.

JANUARY IS DIMES MONTH—Mayor Lewis M. Howell, who is also Albany March of Dimes chairman, meets Alameda County March of Dimes Poster Girl Debbie Gould and State Dimes Chairman Jackie Cooper at last week's session of the Alameda County Mayors' conference at the Hotel Claremont. All mayors in the county are expected to proclaim January as March of Dimes month in their communities after meeting Debbie, an out-patient at the Dimes-supported Birth Defects Center at Children's Hospital Medical Center, and hearing Cooper speak on behalf of the organization. —Times Photo.

Band Boosters
Albany Band Boosters will hold the next regular meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday, Jan. 17, in the band portable building.

All members are urged to attend this important meeting. New members are invited. Any parent or friend of an instrumental student or orchestra or band member is eligible to join.

Message from the Mayor

This Saturday may well be recalled as the biggest day in Albany's history.

Ceremonies and the celebration marking the completion of our beautiful new city buildings are for everyone and we would like to see every man, woman and child attend.

Albany's modern Civic Center will stand for years and the dedication will be something to remember for a lifetime.

It should also be a matter of civic pride to attend these ceremonies, which will attract prominent visitors and former residents from many parts of the United States, some from as far away as Florida.

A hard-working committee, headed by Barry Rummion, Jr., has labored for months to plan a day to remember. I like to think of it as a reunion of old timers, former and present civic servants and residents.

All events are open to children. I urge you to make this a day for your entire family.

If you are a newcomer in Albany, attend and get acquainted with your neighbors in this friendly city.

The dinner-dance at night is the dedication party. If you are unable to attend the formal ceremonies, please plan to come to the evening activities from 5 p.m. to midnight in the clubhouse at Golden Gate Fields.

As Mayor of the City of Albany, I issue this as my formal invitation to all citizens to join in observing this important civic event, Saturday, Jan. 15.

LEWIS M. HOWELL
Mayor, City of Albany

EVERYTHING IS READY FOR CIVIC DEDICATION

One year ago, Jan. 15, 1965, a handful of officials gathered to cut a ribbon on top of the Buchanan overpass.

Disappointed because the citizens of the city were not invited to participate in that civic event, Councilman (now Mayor) Lewis Howell said, "We'll do the next one ourselves."

The result of careful planning, citizen involvement and a determination to stage a celebration "for the people" will be demonstrated this Saturday, Jan. 15, 1966, when Albany's new city buildings are dedicated at 1000 San Pablo Ave.

Hundreds—perhaps thousands—of people are expected to attend the day-long celebration beginning with a symbolic parade and ending with a dinner-dance at Golden Gate Fields that night (see program).

Workmen are exerting every effort to have all portions of the striking new buildings completed by Saturday. Recent rains have hampered outside work, but if the present clear weather continues, everything should be ready for inspection.

City Hall consists of 7,700 square feet with offices for the city treasurer, city clerk, public works department, recreation department, health department, council chambers and conference room.

The police department contains 6,400 square feet of space for offices, training areas, investigation and photographic laboratories, complete booking facilities and a jail consisting of four cells, a drunk tank and padded cell.

A separate building for the fire station houses fire fighting equipment on a large appliance floor, alarm equipment, offices, day room, kitchen, shop, hose-drying facilities, locker rooms and sleeping quarters.

Albany's new civic buildings are low with deep overhanging eaves. Walls are of slump stone with a thermal white roof. Aluminum letters will be on the faces of the buildings.

Interior offices are attractive with pastel and slump stone walls. Wood panel walls are used in offices of department heads and cherry paneling is a feature of the new council chambers, the only room where drapes will hang. Other offices have vertical blinds.

Vinyl asbestos tile floors are throughout new city buildings except the raised portion for council in the council chambers, which is carpeted in brown.

Furnishings are beige with persimmon. Many items from old city buildings have been refinished for use in the new structures.

Rumford Speaker For Lions Club Tomorrow Night

Albany Lions kick off their 1966 program year this Thursday evening when Berkeley-Albany Assemblyman Byron Rumford addresses club members on a number of prime problems presently confronting our State Legislature in Sacramento.

A fine speaker, Rumford will substantiate his observations with a background of public service covering over 17 years.

Always receptive to the problems of Albany, it is anticipated a large turnout will be on hand for the dinner meeting at Lion headquarters, 1045 San Pablo Ave. Bell rings at seven.

Last week at their regular business session, plans were completed for the installation of a trophy case in the entrance of the new city hall. Voted to invite Lion District Governor Frank Koser to the dedication and dinner dance at Golden Gate Fields in which some 30 Lions and their ladies will be in attendance.

enth, eighth, and ninth grade girls, is under the leadership of Mrs. William Perry, Mrs. Eldon Wolf, Mrs. Arnold Pope, and Mrs. Arthur Hildebrandt, and is sponsored by the Albany Lions Club.

Two projects are underway with one group of girls studying child care with the Red Cross. Another is learning the responsibilities of active citizenship and plans a trip to Sacramento while the legislature is in session.

County Mayors To Meet With Supervisors

It took them about an hour to decide, but Alameda County Mayors voted last Wednesday night to invite members of the County Board of Supervisors to attend their monthly sessions as non-voting but participating guests.

Most of the discussion involved whether the supervisors should be invited quarterly or monthly. Albany Mayor Lewis Howell was one of those in favor of quarterly sessions. The vote was 9-4 in favor of monthly meetings. All 13 mayors were present.

Before the vote was taken, San Leandro Mayor Jack Maltester said he believed monthly meetings should be given a six-month trial period.

"There's only one way Alameda county can move forward—as a unit," he said. "Not the Board of Supervisors vs. the mayors, but all together."

Despite the original split vote, mayors ultimately voted unanimously to invite supervisors to every meeting.

Also discussed again was the possibility of general law cities to enact a tax on cigarettes if they so desire.

Oaklands Mayor John C. Houlihan was host at the meeting, held at the Claremont Hotel.

Theft of Five-Ton Generator Reported Here

You gotta admit, it's kind of funny. Albany police report that a man called away a $10,746, five-ton generator from Williams and Lane, Inc., of 1077 Eastshore way on Dec. 29 without paying for it and with the help of Williams and Lane employees to load it on a truck.

Representing himself as affiliated with a reputable company, the man, who identified himself as Roy Whitehead, requested the generator but was told he would have to make down payment. He said he'd be back later. Williams and Lane sent out a crew to load the generator.

When the man, who identified himself as Roy Whitehead, returned, the crew loaded the generator and he left in a green ton truck. A half flatbed truck, the investigation revealed that the "Whitehead" said he had never heard of the generator. He said he had received a call concerning an accident on Eastshore way Dec. 29 in which the truck was involved and the driver had told the occupant of the truck to contact the firm regarding damages.

The license number of the truck was traced to a rental agency in Oakland, who reported it rented the truck to "Ray Whitehead" Dec. 29. On Dec. 31, the firm received a call from Whitehead saying, "If you want your truck, it's on Santa Monica Blvd." The truck was recovered, but no generator.

Subsequently, Albany police learned that "Roy Whitehead" had sold the generator to a Long Beach firm for $4,250. The check has already been cashed and Whitehead-Whitefield is nearly $5,000 richer.

Williams and Lane will get their generator back.

Fire Plug

Those who could not avail themselves of the free service disposal of Christmas trees offered by the fire department in cooperation with the Albany Land Fill company are urged to rid their homes of the old trees as soon as possible.

Be sure the trees are removed to the dump or taken away by some disposal company. They should not be abandoned to rear yards or empty lots where children may have access to them. When dry, Christmas trees are as dangerous as gasoline. This is attested by the recent brush fires in the Los Angeles area and in Northern California.

world they'd put him in case he came planning to spend the night. The Villa Motel on San Pablo, Albany's only hostelry, is nice, but does it have a presidential suite?

GOVERNOR BROWN sent his regrets, too, but he'll be represented by Frank Mesple. Rep. Byron Rumford will be here plus most of the mayors of surrounding cities. So many people are compiling lists of who's coming from out of town that it's difficult to make a roundup. We'll tell you who was here next week. It's a certainty we'll have a record turnout.

MYRLEEN McARTHUR reports that her finance committee includes John Pleich, Bob Rhea, William McClain and Sam Dows. Others volunteering to sell social hour and dinner-dance tickets Saturday night are Neal Clarity, Roland Grisham, Bill Garren and Chamber of Commerce directors and their husbands or wives.

VOLUNTEERS appear from every direction for every committee except Jack Dempster's Sunday morning cleanup detail at the clubhouse of Golden Gate Fields and to serve as bus boys Saturday night. So far, Albany Jaycees, members of Boy Scout troop 12 and a few individuals have come forth. It's going to be a big job and many hands make light work. Want to help? Call the Chamber of Commerce office (LA 5-1711).

ALBANY USUALLY is staging a March of Dimes campaign about now, but everyone who normally is active in that campaign now is involved in the dedication of city buildings. We're running Mayor Howell's picture and his proclamation of January as Dimes Month this week because he was ill the night we took the Council picture at new city hall, but don't expect much activity until the dedication is over and the committee has taken a breather.

NICE TOUCH—We heard at the Fire Department Friday that all off-duty firemen will attend the dedication in uniform. Audrey Runnion, ticket chairman, is delighted with the great ticket-selling job the firemen have done under the direction of Capt. Ray Gonzales. They've sold the first batch and come back for a second.

BE SURE to gather up your friends and attend the celebration Saturday. It's not for "the other guy" ... it's for YOU. These are your buildings, this is your city and only you can make Saturday a smashing success.

CITY BUILDINGS -- PREVIEW AND REVIEW

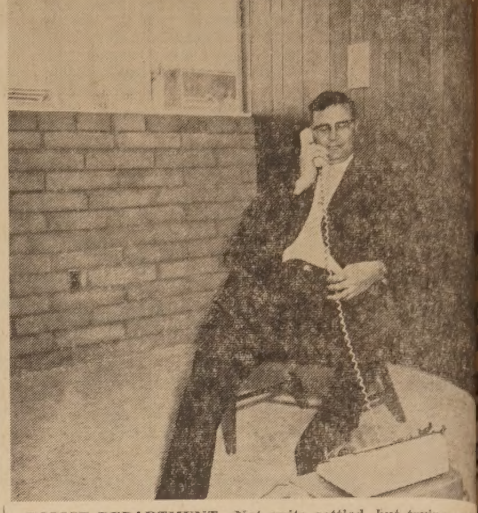

FIRE DEPARTMENT—Chief Gerald Browne admires the spacious fire equipment area in Albany's new city buildings. Sleeping areas removed from other activity, a day room and modern kitchen & sheltered patio are features of this separate complex.

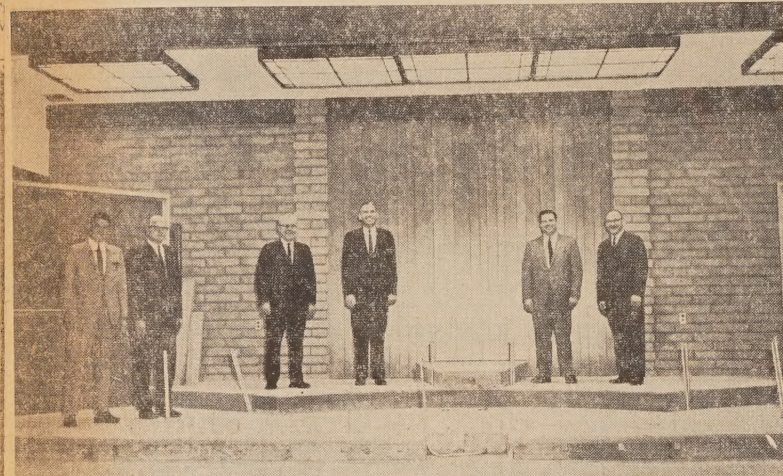

HEALTH RECREATION—City Health Officer Robert McMahon, M.D., left, and Recreation Director E. J. (Bud) Ronney inspect a portion of the new health department at city hall. Dark wood paneling and cupboards are offset by light plaster & stone walls.

CLERK-TREASURER—Treasurer Marietta Ferreira and Clerk Myrtle McLean, left to right, admire large safe, spacious, well-lighted city clerk's office. Mrs. McLean will be in small office. Mrs. Ferreira has similar quarters next door.

POLICE DEPARTMENT—Not quite settled, but trying out new private office is Police Chief Ralph M. Jensen. The photo was on a cardboard box early last week. All furniture is now in place in the spacious department. —Times Photo

COUNCIL CHAMBERS — Albany City Councilmen—minus Mayor Lewis Howell, who was ill—found their places last Thursday night, but their desks and chairs weren't put in place until later. Standing where they will sit when they meet in the new chambers are, from left, City Attorney Larry Saler, Administrative Officer James B. Turner, Councilmen George Hein, Joel Parker, Richard Clark and Joe Egenberger. The mayor's seat is slightly elevated above those of other councilmen. Councilmen will enter the chambers from a conference room at left rear. Theater-type seats will be provided for the audience. —Times Photo.

Their Dream Is Now A Reality

Albany residents are guaranteed to be delighted when they view the new city buildings this Saturday.

City employees, who have worked so many years in antiquated, inadequate surroundings, are having difficulty believing their long-cherished dream has become a reality.

In case you've forgotten, here is what Albany has provided for its civic servants until now:

CITY HALL—An old store building purchased in 1912. In 1929, the building was remodeled. The second floor was added in 1934 to house the city library, which moved to its new building in 1952. One small windowless room housed the police department until it moved in 1939. The civil defense was housed on the second floor until it moved and was replaced by the city engineer, public works and administrative officer's headquarters.

RECREATION DEPARTMENT—A four-room house, built in 1915, remodeled in 1935.

POLICE DEPARTMENT—A five-room dwelling, originally built in 1928, moved to San Pablo Ave. by WPA labor and city crews in 1939 when new swimming pool and gymnasium were built at Albany High school and it was scheduled to be torn down.

FIRE STATION—Built in 1915 for one man plus volunteers serving a population of 1,600. This building plus a few garages and shed has been headquarters for the department, which today numbers 22 men and serves a population of 16,500.

be undertaken by an election to authorize the sale of general obligation bonds.

Upon receipt of the above recommendations, Council retained an appraiser to evaluate the sites and at the same time obtained an architect for further evaluations on the overall proposal.

Site Selected

In January, 1964, the report of the appraiser supported the committee's first choice of the Buchanan Street site because it would provide better access at less cost than the Washington site. Council then took action selecting the Buchanan Street site for new buildings and asked for cost estimates for the combined facilities there.

By late January, cost estimates for the site and development were submitted to the City Council. It then took action to place the bond proposal on the April ballot.

The nucleus of the committee working for passage of the bond issue was the 30-member advisory committee originally appointed by the City Council. There was no organized opposition to the measure.

Additional Information

The City of Albany purchased the site for new city buildings from the University of California for $162,126.

In a recent sale of city-owned property, James Woulfe paid $26,500 for 1045 Solano, site of City Hall, and Mechanics Bank, $78,375 for the San Pablo Avenue property, where the police and fire stations are located.

In planning the new city buildings, it was decided to combine the police department and city hall facilities under one roof with separate quarters for the fire department. Equipment and facilities used both by police and fire departments are located midway between for convenient use by either. Sleeping accommodations for firemen are so located that late Council meetings and public hearings will not be a nuisance.

There are 27 off-street parking spaces, not including those needed by the ambulance, pound truck, squad cars and other city-owned vehicles.

Albany's new city buildings will require no additional personnel, but provisions have been made for departmental growth, both in equipment and personnel.

THE STORY OF ALBANY'S NEW BUILDINGS: TWO DEFEATS, SUCCESS

Proposed bond issues to construct new city buildings in Albany were successful on the third try, April 14, 1964, when a $670,000 measure passed by a vote of 4,105 to 1,397.

In 1958, a $300,000 proposal to construct police and fire stations on an expansion of the current site at San Pablo Ave. and Washington and city hall on the present site failed by less than 100 votes.

The same proposal with slight modifications and divided into Measures A and B failed by about 300 votes on Sept. 29, 1959.

Two factors are believed by many Albany residents to have influenced the favorable vote in 1964. The first was the Judy Williamson case, which focused the attention of the press on the dilapidated condition of the local police station. The second was the proposed bond issue to build new buildings at Albany High school. Consensus of the voters was "city buildings first." As a result, 1964 became a historic year in the community. The city bond issue was passed in April; the school bond issue in November.

Citizens Committee

In January, 1963, Albany City Council embarked on a program to evaluate the city building matter. It appointed a 30-member Citizens' Building Advisory committee to review all aspects of the existing city buildings and to come forward with recommendations for a course of action.

Following 10 months of study, the committee recommended:

1. That it would be well to consolidate the police and fire departments and city hall on one site.
2. That it would be well to consolidate the police and fire departments and city hall on one site.
3. That first choice for such a site would be the triangular piece of property bounded by Buchanan Street, San Pablo Ave., and the proposed Marin extension. Second choice was the existing police and fire properties augmented by abutting property.
4. Financing the project should

George Vila Headed Advisory Group

Citizens committees have been very important in the history of Albany's new city buildings, which will be dedicated Saturday.

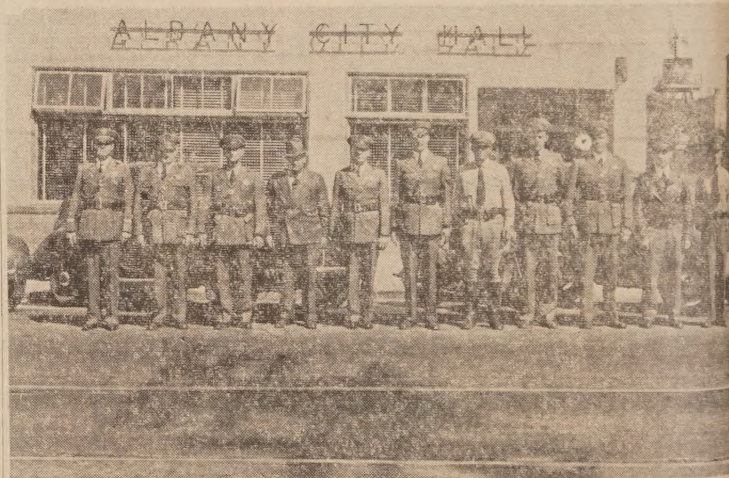

In February, 1963, George Vila was elected chairman of the Citizens Advisory committee to explore possibilities for new city buildings and suggest how to proceed to the City Council.

The steering committee included Jerome Blank, Virginia Moody, Robert Hughes, C. F. Graeber, Dorothy Larimer, Marjorie Ferreira and Clement Tobin. Patricia George was secretary.

William A. Miller was finance sub-committee chairman; Tobin, new construction; Hughes, reconstruction, and Graeber, sites.

Council followed their suggestions (see background story) and a successful bond issue resulted in April, 1964. Many of the original committee assisted in promoting the bond issue. Vila again was named chairman. Other members included Edith Sheriff, Richard McSheehy, James B. Turner, Barry Runnion, Jr., W. A. Miller, Shirley Parr, Joe Carlevaro, Dorothy Larimer and Johnnie Grisham. They coordinated the efforts of countless individuals and organizations enthusiastically backing the bond issue.

Final Committee Meeting Tonight

The final meeting of the dedication planning committee will convene at 8 p.m. tonight at old city hall.

Chairman Barry Runnion Jr., has urged everyone having anything to do with Saturday's events to attend so all "loose ends" may be tied together.

One of the most important reports will be that of the ticket committee. Conversation with many of those selling tickets indicates that sales have been brisk with a particular run on the ducks over the weekend and Monday and Tuesday. More than 2,100 tickets have been distributed. Some individuals have sold nearly 100 each.

"It's going to be a great day," Runnion said, expressing his thanks to the hard-working committee members.

THANK YOU, ALBANY

...daes when neither receives the majority. Councilman Clark said that in the last city election, all nine candidates would have had to run again.

To be discussed next Monday night at 7 is a proposed pro rata charge of $35 in the form of a deposit by each candidate for office to help cover costs of mailing campaign statements to voters. Councilman Joe Egenberger desired more information before voting. Councilman Joel Parker, Jr., said he feels any candidate should pay the cost of mailing such statements, "even if it costs $150." Egenberger disagreed because the statements are mailed with sample ballots.

Another charter change, previously discussed by Council, was approved for inclusion in the April ballot. It involves changing the residence limitation for police employees from seven and a half miles to 15 miles. Councilman George Hein, who made the motion, said the fire department has not asked for the extension because it on occasion must call in all men.

Resolutions appointing Don Dupin as Community Center director and extending the employment of George Wannop of the Public Works Department another year were requested of City Attorney Lawrence Saler.

A communication from the League of California Cities notified Council that Mayor Howell has been named to the firemen's legislation committee.

Council unanimously directed Mayor Howell to proclaim January March of Dimes month in Albany.

A $3.90 refund in personal property tax to James Realty, whose mailing address is Berkeley and not Albany, was authorized.

Council approved a progress payment to S. J. Amoroso of $24,596.55 upon completing 96 per cent of new city buildings. Certain deductions in the original request of $27,890.35 were recommended by Administrative Officer James B. Turner. Council also approved turning over $52,289.89 to the school district, representing the 35-cent school tax it collects per $100 assessed valuation for the schools. Clark again noted that a charter change changing the collection procedure is warranted.

Much time was devoted to a discussion of a letter from University of California President Clark Kerr, who wrote a lengthy explanation of the status of the Viet Nam Day committee on campus and his belief that Professor Stephen Smalley has "a right, as do all American citizens, to express his political views."

Councilman Egenberger moved to file the letter because "it is obvious we are not going to get a reasonable reply from Clark Kerr." When Councilman Clark defended Kerr's letter, Councilman Parker joined Egenberger in deriding Kerr for "not having the guts to censure a member of his faculty."

Clark's motion to send a letter of thanks to Kerr for his communication died for lack of a second. The Kerr letter was filed.

Under Good of the City, Herbert Rubin read a letter from himself and Leon Rimov urging council to ask for a legal opinion from the city attorney on the legality of the sanitary land fill company operating on Albany's tidelands and to clarify provisions of public rights (see separate story on the ABC meeting). Copies of the letter were given to Council and sent to Senators John Holmdahl and Eugene McAtter. When Egenberger moved

Albany High Band Members Have Their New Uniforms

"Wow!" was the reaction of Albany High Band members to the new red, white and gold uniforms they received just before Christmas.

The new uniforms consist of scarlet tunics with gold trim and a gold overlay with a white emblem on the front and back "A" on the back; and a plastic shako hat with a sunburst emblem on the front and a three dimensional design on the sides.

The overlays and shakos are worn at football games and games, and are designed to be removed for indoor performances, leaving the band in a tuxedo-style outfit that will be worn with white shirts and black bow ties for a more formal appearance.

The new uniforms are the result of a city-wide fund drive last year by the Albany Band Boosters, an organization of parents with sons or daughters in the AHS music department. More than $3,500 was raised, with contributions from such diverse sources as the high school cafeteria workers and members of the Berkeley High School band. Money came in bunches and dribbles from hundreds of interested private Albany citizens, from the Albany chapter of the American Legion, and from just about every service club in town. Funds solicited by the Band Boosters were matched by a large grant from the Albany Board of Education.

Band director Ernest Douglas was as happy as the kids about the new uniforms. "The way the people of Albany responded to our fund drive was one of the finest examples of civic spirit I've ever seen," he said. "These new uniforms are going to make a great improvement in the band's appearance."

ABC Meetings

WHAT CAN YOU BUILD ON MUD? AND IF YOU DO, IS IT LEGAL?

In a discussion of Albany's waterfront last Wednesday night, nearly 100 persons questioned what can be built on one of the deepest mud troughs in the East Bay as well as whether any building would be legal on public trust lands.

The first meeting of Albany Bay committee featured discussions of legal aspects by Albany Attorney Herbert Rubin, technical aspects by Don Lockwood, and a presentation of a drawing of a proposed water-oriented recreation facility on the tidelands by Leon Rimov, architect and city planner who also lives in Albany.

Rubin said State Supreme Court decisions ruled that the state could not gift land of any value to a municipal corporation except through a special grant-in-trust. Other decisions specified that no matter how the state conveyed the land, it could not prevent the land's use by the public for navigation and fishing.

Under a 1919 Act, the legislature conveyed to Albany the waterfront property to be used expressly for navigation-oriented facilities, Rubin said, adding that in 1961 the city's representatives in the legislature secured an amendment to the act that permitted use of the tidelands for recreational, educational and residential purposes "in which there is general statewide interest."

Rubin said the legislature may have violated the constitution by passing the 1961 amendment. He expressed reservations about using the dump on the tidelands as a source of revenue to the city, or filling the tidelands with no plan for building a harbor or other facility "of general statewide interest."

Lockwood, city planner and ABC member, described the mud problem which would present engineering difficulties in construction of industrial and residential-commercial facilities. Necessary fill procedures would be time-consuming and expensive. The mudflats could support lightweight recreational facilities at a more economical cost, he said.

Rimov's sketch suggests a harbor, boat pier, heliport, scenic drives and restaurant. It shows Golden Gate Fields and associated parking lot as an integral part of the waterfront.

Following discussion of the proposals, the audience was told ABC plans to hold at least one more work session before forwarding its recommendations to the City Council.

Marin Faculty, PTA Potluck Tuesday, Jan. 18

Outstanding entertainment and food will be featured at the annual faculty and PTA potluck dinner, Jan. 18 at the Marin school cafeteria at 6:30 p.m.

Mrs. Al Hiscoc, in charge of the program, has promised an evening of fun when the faculty puts on their little skit, which is usually quite hilarious.

Mrs. Arthur Handlos and Mrs. Edwin Van Echardt, co-chairmen of this gala affair, say to wear a costume only if you wish, but do come.

Mrs. Arthur Overman and Mrs. Stan Young are doing the decoration.

IS IT REALLY OLD-FASHIONED ?

Some people would have you believe that a funeral director's only duties are to provide a casket and a few minimal services—mechanically, without feeling and without regard for the individuality of each family.

We disagree. We believe, as long as love and understanding have an important place in the human heart, that compassion has an important place in the service we provide for our fellow man.

Mrs. Olson retired from the Albany schools in January of 1965, and visited in San Salvador with her former resident, Mrs. Jean Schneider, who was secretary for the Cornell School and the Albany Recreation Department before her marriage to Dr. Arturo Alvarez. While in San Salvador Mrs. Olson, naturally, visited the schools and was persuaded to accept a position with one of the private bi-lingual schools there. She has been in Albany during the Christmas vacation visiting friends and relatives and will leave on January 16 for another year.

Mrs. Olson will show pictures of her many activities to the Sor-

SENIOR CITIZENS

846 Masonic Ave.

The Senior Citizens of Albany started the new year with a business meeting and installation Tuesday, Jan. 4. In spite of inclement weather, a better than usual crowd was present.

Tena Gregory, outgoing president, opened the meeting. May Ellis Olson served as installing officer and was introduced by Minnie Ingraham, who presented her with a corsage. She in turn presented an orchid to Minnie.

After a short address in which she likened the officers of an organization to the jewels in a crown, she outlined the duties of each officer and presented each with a pin set with a jewel symbolizing the type of duties he or she will be expected to perform.

Each new officer received two corsages, one a gift from the Soroptimist club of Albany and another made by Maria Olivera, renowned for her skill in making beautiful satin flowers.

Those installed were Minnie Ingraham, president; Ruth Baird, vice president; Joy Tucker, secretary; Tena Gregory, treasurer; Pearl Cooke, chaplain; Georgia Sargent, hostess; Joe Nicolletti and Sally Johnston, members at large, and Emma Claymore, re-appointed publicity officer. Refreshments were served.

The program for January is out and a new craft class in resin casting is being stressed. It opens at 10 a.m. today, continuing until 5 p.m.

The dancing class on Friday evenings from 5:30 to 7:30 would welcome a few new members. After all, what could be more enjoyable on a long winter evening than to while away a couple of hours dancing to good music among congenial friends. For information, call 526-1601.
